2. India vs. Bharat: Is it still relevant?

One is not born but rather becomes a woman.

Nature/God has created all the creatures on the earth with a purpose. They all are equal. It might be a insect, dogs, fishes, buffalo, chimpanzee and the highest primate that is human being. But the human being have some special attributes such as (s)he can think, (s)he can feel the emotions of others, (s)he is not only self-centric being but also social animal.

The word human being is a biological term which include both the sexes that is male and female. According to this both sexes are assigned at the time of birth. They will be considered equal and they will have equal capability to develop. But because of the artificial society what we as humans developed there will be some distinct aspects for both men and woman. In this essay we will going to explore how the process of Socialization and social values impacts the growth of women with respect to men.

Good introduction

One does not have the option to choose the gender. They have born with a sex they should live accordingly. The process of growth depends upon the values, customs, norms, beliefs and opportunities of that society. If a girl born in the traditional Indian society, they consider women as "Mahalakshmi" (Goddess of good luck). They treat that girl as the symbol and prestige of the whole family. But this respect is not being continued throughout

Good

The process of socialization of the girl child starts within from her home. Where she can be taught that, she should not go outside, she has to stay in the home and learn how to do house keeping duties etc. For her obedience and acceptance are good that questioning, cooking skills are important than technical skills, marriage is first priority

now-a-days the trend had changed, and education is being given first preference. girls are behind boys in school admissions than studying. Because of this her creativity will be suppressed and her hope is demolished.

Society always sees women with stereotypic mindset. If a young girl rides a bike they think that is wrong because they think bike riding is the masculine aspect. If a girl says she wanted to become a pilot or army commander they restrict her hope to only air hostess and army staff. This is not necessary, if you want to develop give equal hope to woman also. Stereotypic mindset does not serve any purpose except killing your creativity, undermining the potential of other and degrading your own moral standards.

In the present day globalized, industrialized world also we can see the faulty notion of womanhood. The jobs which are suitable for women are only pink collar jobs and they won't think rationaly rather they take decisions emotionally. This is the false thinking spreading around the society. Industries think that if they give jobs to women, they may take break in their career because of pregnancy which cause discontinuity. But the industrialists were not understanding the logic that if they didn't choose the women means they are losing half of the talent pool.

If the woman they are hiring is properly used in India an addition of 1.5% GDP can be added to GDP (UN)

Our society also promoted the same values as the industrialists think. That is women should marry at the earlier age and she should get the children. According to Hindu tradition, womanhood of an individual do not complete with having children. But what they missed was womenhood and manhood are the social distinction we as humans derive not the innate ability of the humans.

TRUE

on marriage of girl child is very important to attain 1.5% of GDP than

In the Political arena also the participation of women are very less. According to political participation the latest data about recent Lok Sabha election of 2019, women's strength in the Lok Sabha is around 13.5%.

The Socialization, education system, Custom, religion etc. draws a boundary on the fate of women that you should not cross this. If they cross they will be seen with suspension. But the recent trends in the value system, industrialization, urbanization and globalization phenomena has created ample opportunities for women. They are now not restricted to household works, they are working as doctors, engineers, pilots, ISRO Scientist etc.

Recently the Government of India also allowed the entry of women in the combat roles in the army. They can be treated at par with all aspects whether it may be the power, position, thinking and actions.

in USA the custom which are strictly followed by women are not

Recently women are more confident than men

ISRO is a woman friendly organization who give details of Chandrayaan-2

15% of jobs are reserved for women in C.I.S.F, CAPF, BSF, TBP and some

Remarks

The intelligence, courage, caliber of women can be understood with the recent achievements of women. Shweta Swaminathan was selected as the chief research officer of the World health organisation, Hillary Clinton fought against Donald Trump in the last USA presidential elections, Arundhati Bhattacharya, the chairman and managing director of SBI bank group and recently two woman scientists were leading the chandrayaan-2 mission. which shows that women's role has increased drastically around the world.

In the family structure also, because of the educated parents, and the social achievements of women in various areas, proved a stepping stone towards women's education, skill development, entrepreneurship and even they are taking leadership roles. Our present finance minister and the chief minister of west Bengal are the examples of increasing women's role in political arena. Globally also Angela Merkel,

Good

- women face many problems from the male. Crime against women are rising. Stringent measures to tackle the crime be considered. Education and health be provided so that they can stand on their own in the society. Politically 33% reservation be given.

Social sanction - approved by society i.e. approved by family and society is important then any women can go forward with their own choice of profession existing schemes for PMs & women be made available easily so that even the poorest woman can stand on her own - help her family and thus the nation
