- Q2. Chief Justice of India suggested having as few tribunals as possible. In the context of over tribunalization, highlight the importance of the Finance Act, 2017 in addressing the issue. Evaluate the impact of tribunals on administration of justice in India? (12.5 Marks)

Article 323A and 323B inserted by 42nd const. amendment act provides for establishment of Tribunal. Tribunals are Quasi-judicial body having ~~neither~~ both judicial & administrative members.

One of issue with Tribunal is that mushrooming of Tribunal & tribunalisation of justice. In this regard finance bill 2017 has cut the number of Tribunal. It suggest integration of various Tribunal like cop, competition appellate tribunal with National company law tribunal.

However, although there are some issues of tribunalisation of justice, Tribunal have some positive impact on administration of justice.

- ① It streamline and fasten the administration of justice
- ② It can deal with specialised issue like Taxation, Environment etc. which traditional judiciary may find difficult.

Remarks

- ① Tribunal need not refer to archaic Evidence act, cop and can deliver justice on principle of Natural Justice.
- ② However over tribunal have some issue like:
- ③ Appeal against Tribunal interested to supreme court bypassing high court which not only violate constitution but also does not provide opportunity to the judge to equip with certain type of case knowledge.
- ④ TIC which are present in "states", Tribunal are setup at certain place which decreases the reach of citizen.
- ⑤ Presently, funding of tribunal comes from ministry which make conflict of interest as majority of cases are against government.

Accordingly law comm. recommend to made nodal ministry like law ministry to all tribunal. Also, appeal to Tribunal judgment should vested to High court. Hence, there is no Tribunal need to reform for proper & effective administration of justice and has huge potential for improving quality of justice as well as decreasing delay & pending of cases.
